

“Many things are not as they seem”

- Jim Butcher

The Midnight Visitor' by Robert Arthur, is a gripping story of high drama at midnight in which a detective who outwits a hardened criminal with his quick wit and presence of mind. It is a very thrilling account of a secret agent Ausable's one particular episode. Ausable did not fit any description of a secret agent. He did not live up to the romantic picture of a secret agent that we read in books. However he was gifted with a rare presence of mind. His fertile brain could invent and cook up stories and situations that would confuse and unnerve his rivals. This story unveils how he outwitted and outsmarted his rival and enemy secret agent Max. He was with a writer friend Fowler. They planned to spend time in the evening. Then Fowler realized that he was exactly the opposite of what he had imagined about him. Ausable told Fowler that he had been thinking wrong and very soon he would be looking at a very important report which would change the country's future. Then both went to his room. But, when they entered the room another guy Max with a gun was standing in the room. He asked them to be comfortable until the reports related to missiles arrived. This was really an adventurous experience for the Fowler while meeting with a secret agent. Meanwhile, Ausable started with a story about a hypothetical balcony below the window of his room. While this talk was going on, someone was continuously knocking at the door. Ausable said that the police were at the door came to check him and his room on a regular basis. Max, pointing his gun towards both of them, said that he would be waiting in the balcony and during this time Ausable should send away the police otherwise he would shoot them. As the doorknob was turned in loud, Max jumped out of the window and they heard a loud scream. The door opened and a waiter came in. The waiter said that he had brought the wine that Ausable had ordered. He kept the bottle, tray and glasses there on the table and left. Fowler was surprised after seeing all that. Fowler asked him about the police. Then Ausable replied that there was no police. Fowler again asked about Max, who was waiting in the balcony outside the window. Then Ausable replied that the person would not return as there was no balcony at all. This shows the quick wit of Ausable as he took advantage of the situation and successfully made Max nervous. Under his nervousness, he jumped out of the window without any thought. He jumped from the top floor of the hotel and hence died. Thus, Ausable outwitted Max and saved himself from a very dangerous situation.

“The qualities that help one find his way even in most difficult situations are, intelligence, presence of mind and courage.”
